600 PUPILS TRAPPED IN THREE STORY BUILDING

Flames Started in Basement of St. John's Parochial School and Swept Through Stairways, Trapping the Struggling Children—Several Were Trampled to Death—Others Killed by Jumping—Many Saved by Leaping From Windows

PEABODY, Oct. 28.—Twenty pupils of St. John's parochial school lost their lives in a fire that, starting in the basement a few minutes after the morning session had opened today, swept through the three stories of the brick and wooden building in less than five minutes.

Nineteen Burned to Death
Nineteen of the boys and girls, none of whom was out of their teens, were burned or crushed to death while attempting to escape. A score of others were injured, some dangerously. Of the latter, Mildred Mead, aged 16, died after having been removed to a hospital. The bodies of the dead were brought to the morgue only two had been identified this afternoon. These were the bodies of Elizabeth Nolan, aged 17, and Mary Sullivan, 16, both members of the senior class. Other bodies were believed to be in the ruins and it was thought that 25 had been killed or fatally injured.

Panic Followed Cry
The students who ranged in years from 7 to 13 were in charge of 16 sisters. When the fire broke out the sisters marshaled their charges as for a fire drill and started them from the building. The processions were orderly until those from the third floor joined others pouring from the class rooms on the second floor. Suddenly there was a cry of fear from one of the throng. It was taken up by a hundred others and panic ensued.

Jammed in Vestibule
The sisters made frantic efforts to stop the pushing, struggling mass, but to no purpose. The smaller children fell under the feet of those behind them and soon the vestibule was so jammed with living and dead that the firemen could not force an entrance. The 16 sisters escaped.

The flames, it is supposed, started in the basement and according to some were caused by the explosion of a steam boiler from which the building was heated. There is doubt, however, as to the origin of the fire.

A large percentage of the pupils were children of foreign parentage. In the number were many of Irish and Italian descent. The firemen fought the fire from ladders, raised to the windows while the police cleared the vestibule.

Burned Beyond Recognition
The bodies of the dead generally were burned beyond recognition. Mary Leada and Marion Hayes were found in the crush badly burned but alive and were removed to a hospital.

Distracted Mothers on Scene
The first alarm brought a hundred distracted mothers to the school yard where they were joined by other relatives of the pupils until the building was surrounded by a great crowd of hysterical men and women who rushed the police lines in a wild effort to reach their own. The police were powerless to stop the rush but what they failed to do was accomplished presently by the flames which shot from the windows of the building and held back the unhappy throng.

The St. John's parochial school was situated on Chestnut street near the center of the town and adjoining St. John's Catholic church of which, Fr. Nicholas Murphy is the pastor.

The school building was erected a few years ago at a cost of about $100,000. It was square shape with wood fittings lining the interior of the brick frame. There were 16 class rooms on the three floors. At each end of the building wooden stairways led down from the two upper floors. It was the largest school in the city.

The head of the school is Mother Superior Sister Alderson, who is assisted by 15 sisters. The mother superior detected the odor of smoke a few minutes after the school session opened. She immediately sounded the school's fire alarm which started the children to the street.

According to the version of the sisters, the pupils were marching out in an orderly manner until the leaders who had reached the ground floor made the mistake of rushing into the vestibule at the front exit instead of going out at the rear door as they had been trained to do.

Aid Came Too Late

This caused confusion among those who followed and congestion in the vestibule. Meantime the flames had rushed up the stairway and caught the struggling children. Within five minutes flames were shooting from all the windows and exits. The local firemen, unable to control the blaze, summoned aid from Salem, Danvers and Marblehead, but this came too late.

Police and firemen bent their energies chiefly to putting children from doors and windows. The mother superior dropped 23 of her charges from a window on the second floor and they were caught in overcoats and blankets improvised as fire nets.

Two hours after the fire started 20 bodies had been taken from the ruins and others were being sought.

Acts of Heroism

Acts of heroism were not wanting. Maurice Harris, aged 10 years, carried his chum, Thomas O'Shea, a boy of 3 years, who has but one leg, on his back down the stairways which were then choked with the smoke and flames, to safety.

No Fire Escapes

There were no fire escapes on the outside of the building.

Find Boiler Intact

As soon as the ruins were sufficiently cool, Building Inspector A. H. McDonald and W. S. Murray of the state police made their way for a few feet into the basement, and later reported that they found the boiler, which was thought to have exploded, intact.

Joseph Donahue, the engineer of the building, also declared that the blaze could not have originated from the boiler, as the fire was banked before he left it at 8 o'clock this morning.

More than 600 pupils, all under 16 years of age, were at their desks when the fire started.

The flames quickly swept through the building, almost before the children could get out of their rooms.

Several Killed Jumping

The children were driven from their rooms and many sought to escape by the windows and were killed or injured in jumping.

Neighbors rushed to the scene and held coats and blankets while the children leaped into them.

Little Ones Trampled

The heaviest loss of life was at the front door, where the hall and stairway leading to the upper floors became choked with frantic children. Many were trampled under foot and overcome with smoke. The firemen were unable to push their way through the crush and were forced to fight the fire from ladders.

CITY HALL NOTES

The municipal council will meet tomorrow forenoon for the purpose of taking some action relative to the acquisition of land for the extension of Dummer street as outlined in an order to be prepared by the city solicitor.

Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, stated today that a very perceptible and very gratifying increase was being shown in evening school attendance, but that there was still room for improvement. An interview making plain the responsibility of parents, guardians and employers in the matter of sending illiterate minors to the evening schools, appeared in The Sun a few days ago and Mr. Molloy says there has been a notable increase in the attendance since the article appeared.

The following expense accounts have been filed with city clerk by candidates for nomination at the state election, since the last were published: John W. Daily, representative, 16th district, advertising $29. Thomas J. Corbett, representative, 15th district, advertising and printing $34.20.

There have been numerous complaints relative to the very bad condition of Princeton street and Commissioner Morse stated today that he would move his men to Princeton street just as soon as they have finished Powell street. "Princeton street should have been done last year," said Mr. Morse, "but it had to be passed up. I have been trying to reach it all summer and I will get after it just as soon as we have finished with Powell street."

Another Hearing Before Arbitration Board—The Testimony—Capt. Doe Not Present

The hearing in the case of the U. S. Cartridge workers who demanded more pay and other concessions from the company was resumed in the afternoon at city hall this forenoon, but came to somewhat of an abrupt end after two witnesses for the employees had been examined. It was understood that Mr. Tierney would put on a dozen or more witnesses, but after the second witness had been heard he announced that he would rest.

The Cartridge company was not represented at the hearing, but after it was over the arbitration board received a telegram from the company's manager, Capt. Doe, stating that he had been unavoidably detained in getting back from New York. The captain also stated in his telegram that the arbitrators might summon any of the employees employed at the Cartridge company's plant.

The telegram came too late, however, to be read at the meeting, and the operatives and their counsel went away feeling that the company did not think the matter of sufficient importance to require representation.

Mr. Tierney had addressed a communication to the Cartridge company asking that all books and other records in the company's possession showing the cost of manufacture of all products handled or made by the employees whose demands are under arbitration, also selling prices of the same, and the net profit to the corporation, be submitted to produce witnesses, one from each of the departments.

Mr. Tierney said that the company had acknowledged receipt of his request, but that nothing in the line of books or records had been produced. He read a copy of the request in question and after a little discussion the hearing was proceeded with. There were only two members of the arbitration board present, William Howard, chairman, and Charles G. Wood. The third member of the board, Frederick Bump, like Capt. Doe, missed connections and was delayed.

Helen Champlin was the first witness. She is an employee of the Cartridge Co. at the present time. Her work is that of putting tips on bullets and she explained that the speed of the machine operated by her has been decreased from 77 to 65 bullets a minute. She said the work is close and confined and declared that conditions described by witness at the hearing on Friday were applicable to her. She is not allowed to leave her machine unless it breaks. She works 7½ hours a day, and the shift changes from week to week. In reply to Mr. Wood, Miss Champlin said that girls were afraid to leave their machines lest they be discharged.

Margaret Sullivan was the next witness. Her work is that of inspector and she said her work was very trying at night. Miss Sullivan said she had received $2.50 a month for bonus.

"They will not let you out even when you are sick," she said.

"Have you ever asked to go out?" she was asked.

"Yes, I have asked to go out when I was sick and was refused," she replied.

Miss Sullivan also spoke of a shortage in her pay several months ago and she said the mistake had never been rectified. The arbitrators questioned her quite closely relative to the shortage, which, she said, was a clerical mistake.

Miss Champlin was recalled and was asked by Mr. Tierney about a conversation she had heard relative to a recent police court hearing, but the chairman ruled it out, stating that it was evidence to be given before another tribunal.

This concluded the testimony on the part of the employees, and in reply to Mr. Tierney, the chairman said the board would endeavor to inspect the plants of the United States Cartridge Co. this afternoon, if possible, and that the board would make known its findings at the earliest date possible.

THE SPELLBINDER

At the republican rally Monday evening, introducing Hon. Samuel McCall, ex-Congressman Ames said:

"In choosing your governor you don't want just a mediocre man; you want the best you can get."

It's absolutely right. Even the Courier-Citizen will probably agree that in choosing your governor, like choosing your college president, you don't want just a mediocre man; you want the best you can get.

If Butler Ames or anyone else desires to see the best man that can be had for governor in this election, he needs but go up to city hall tomorrow evening when Hon. David I. Walsh will speak at a big democratic open air rally to be held at 8 o'clock. It is quite noticeable that throughout the campaign there has been little criticism of the governor and his administration. The tariff has been the principal issue, while on the side the campaign has been "knocking" the governor as would naturally be expected, have devoted their efforts to criticizing the progressives and the prohibitionists for assuming to set themselves up in competition with the G.O.P.

A united party spells victory and the democratic party was never more closely united in this state, than when Fitzgerald and Curley temporarily at least buried the hatchet in the interest of Governor Walsh. On the other hand the republican party is anything but united. Its spellbinders are trying hard to bolster up the weak-kneed ones with the assurance that the governor will return to the fold. But in Lowell, as throughout the state, we know better for we know of prominent progressives in Lowell who will vote for Gov. Walsh, and no less a progressive than Matthew Hale has stated that Gov. Walsh will be re-elected.

If one will consider the opinions of B. A. Filene, Boston's great merchant prince; Louis D. Brandeis, the eminent attorney and railroad reformer, Matt. Hale, former leader of the progressive party in Massachusetts, and former President Eliot of Harvard, he gets practically all shades of public opinion. All agree that Walsh will be the successful candidate next Tuesday. Tomorrow night's democratic rally promises, with good weather, to be one of the greatest political events in local history. Gov. Walsh will be here and will be given a reception at the Richardson Hotel prior to the meeting at city hall. Then a parade will be formed and the guests of the occasion will be escorted to the scene of the speaking by a band and a procession. Mayor Murphy will preside and as the meeting is to be held in the open there will be room for all men of all parties.

In addition to the governor, Mayor Curley of Boston, an entertaining speaker and a man in whom there is much interest in this city, will address the gathering. Assistant United States District Attorney George F. Anderson will also speak as will Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden, a big favorite with the local democracy. Then there will be Jacob C. Morse, candidate for state auditor, but known the country over as just plain "Jake" Morse, one of America's leading experts on the national game of baseball. "Jake," along with being a baseball expert, knows something about politics and statesmanship and he is a dyed-in-the-wool democrat. In the past Mr. Morse has been a frequent visitor to Lowell, as secretary of the New England League and hence is well known here. This will be his first political visit and undoubtedly the fans of all parties will be out in force to greet him.

Mayor Some Jiner

Many a good Christian must have devoutly recalled the 15th chapter of Luke upon reading the announcement recently made by Mayor Murphy's press agent to the effect that His Honor had joined the Young Men's Christian association. Those who might get the impression that the mayor may introduce some of the municipal council's business matters into the conduct of the affairs of the association need have no alarm, however, for the mayor will have no voice in the management of the Young Men's Christian association, as he is barred from any participation in its management by the constitution of the association. If His Honor lives up faithfully to the teachings of the Young Men's Christian association it may be possible hereafter to place some dependence upon his campaign promises. And those who would judge any future promises of His Honor may make by that to the French people, for instance, should recall the fact that when His Honor promised the French people that he would not run again but would support Dr. Mignault or any other French candidate who might come up, he had not joined the Young Men's Christian association. Now for real reform; real law-enforcement, and real promises.

But while joining the different societies of the city His Honor should not forget to become an active member of the board of trade, another organization of influence and votes, and one, also, in which he may have a voice in the management.

Flushing the Streets

Way back last spring the board of trade recommended to the municipal council that the downtown streets be flushed from the hydrants by the firemen during the early hours of the morning, so as to lay the dust on the smooth paved thoroughfares. It also recommended that a handful of chloride of lime be placed in the watering carts and car sprinklers for the purpose of helping to eliminate the germs that lurk in the dust of the city's streets. Like about everything else that the board of trade sent up to city hall, this scheme was pigeon-holed and then forgotten. But now that a campaign is due and everybody is choking from the dust, the board of trade's recommendation has been taken up as a new idea, and everybody at city hall but Col. Carmichael appears to think well of it. The colonel says he can't spare the firemen. Just why not pass that up? It is a good bet that if the firemen were consulted they would gladly give their services to do the work. When the colonel states that the firemen can't be spared, the question arises, what good are the firemen if they haven't the proper kind of apparatus with which to work? There's still $15,000 appropriated for new and badly needed motor apparatus lying idle in the city treasury, while there still are fire wagons in use that are actually unsafe to drive through the streets in response to an alarm.

Mr. McLaughlin "Engaged"

Mr. McLaughlin, the consulting architect for the new high school, has spoken. His first remarks indicated that he knows his business. It will be recalled that Mr. McLaughlin was originally appointed but not engaged, his engagement and his pay to follow simultaneously. As no great architect works for nothing, it is assumed that having started to work Mr. McLaughlin is now engaged and under pay. The public which in the end will pay the entire cost of the school job would now respectfully inquire how much money Mr. McLaughlin is to get for his service, or at least how much is he charging the city?

Burke vs. Kimball

Never in the history of the "shoe-string" here, there and everywhere senatorial district has there been such a lively contest on as that between Rep. Burke of Lynn and Senator Kimball, of somewhere out in the country. Rep. Burke is a live wire, and with an auto and a bunch of campaign singers has visited every village, hamlet and ward in the district until he has flustered Senator Kimball to the necessity of humping himself and doing a little hustling on his own accord.

Therefore, Senator Kimball came to Lowell yesterday and held forth at the Helme Electric company. While Rep. Burke personally was not present, some of his friends were, and they started asking questions which had the senator "stalling" in a few minutes. The senator had just opened up, and upon saying something about the working people was immediately asked if the state central labor union had refused to sanction his candidacy, and why, and he passed up the question.

Senator Kimball stated that last year Martin Lomasney had told him that Burke was a hustler and would oppose him this year for the senate. The Burke man immediately got Martin Lomasney on the telephone and he authorized them to state that he had never discussed Mr. Burke with the senator in his life and had only spoken with him twice.

Senator Kimball stated that Congressman Tague, speaking in behalf of Burke, had said that he (Kimball) was worth half a million, whereupon Congressman Tague was reached on the phone and he authorized the statement that he had never said anything of the kind. The congressman said that he had made the statement that he understood that Senator Kimball was a man of untold wealth, but had not made any estimate as to the amount of his wealth.

Senator Kimball admitted that Mr.

Burke was a pretty lively young man with no flaws in his records, and in this the Burke followers thoroughly agreed with him.

Senator Kimball made the statement that he had never been invited or challenged to a joint debate, and this news was telephoned to Rep. Burke, who was back in Lowell looking for him yesterday afternoon as quickly as the speed laws would allow. But when he arrived the senator had flown to the tall grass of Carlisle or Littleton, or some other equally sequestered place.

Rep. Burke had with him the names of some 25 labor unions of Lynn that had voted against Senator Kimball's candidacy and was out to ask him why they were all against him.

Rep. Burke stated that he would meet Senator Kimball at any time or place at the latter's convenience, between now and election, to discuss their respective legislative records.

"I'd like to have Senator Kimball tell the people of Lowell his position on the mothers' pension bill. He voted against it and gave as his reason that the state already is being robbed enough. I'd like to have him explain, if the state already is being robbed enough, why he didn't vote for the bill to reform the laws of taxation in this commonwealth, so that the commonwealth could place its hands on the intangible property estimated at about one billion dollars a bill that if enacted into law would bring the tax rate down in every city in the commonwealth; a bill recommended by Governor Walsh in his inaugural address to protect the working man and the small taxpayer. Senator Kimball, who would not vote for the mothers' pension bill because the state treasury is being robbed, would not vote for a bill that would bring thousands of dollars into that same treasury."

By What Authority?

Mr. Spellbinder: Oct. 25, 1915.

Dear Sir:

What authority has Messenger Plnder of the police department for telling people that if Murphy is not elected mayor the city will go to no license?

Respectfully,

An Onlooker.

I'm sure, I don't know. Why not ask him?

Mayor Campaigning

While the state election is not yet disposed of, two of the candidates for mayor at least and their friends, are already busily engaged in campaign work. Dr. Mignault has stated that he will do nothing until after the state election, and then it is understood he will open a downtown campaign headquarters and start an organization. Former Mayor O'Donnell states that he believes in allowing the state candidates the exclusive attention of the voters until next Tuesday and hence will not proceed with his campaign beyond filing his nomination papers until after the state election.

Jackson Palmer is busy every moment, his reason being that as he has never been in the contest before it is necessary for him to make an earlier start than the others. On Saturday night while Mr. Palmer was talking to the crowd at Tower's corner an informal meeting in favor of Mayor Murphy was being held, according to report, in the Central block, where His Honor's law offices are located. It may not have been a political meeting after all, but the fact that Supt. Welch and Police Messenger Plnder were quite busy about the office and the building gave spectators the impression that such a meeting was being held.

Selling Useless Things

This week the city sold a house for which it has no further use, realizing a few hundred dollars upon it. Perhaps the municipal council if it looked around might find some other useless things to dispose of and make a few dollars. For instance since the big chief got his new auto there's a horse in the police department for which there is no particular use. The fire department might purchase that horse to replace one of the superannuated nags now in that department, and it would be cheaper than buying motor trucks, for the colonel says that the price on auto trucks is prohibitive.

Palmer and Hour

Jackson Palmer and Hon. Roger Sherman Hoar speaking on entirely different subjects, appear to agree on the subject of mill agents in Lowell. Both agree that the mill agents of this city desire to keep the standard of mill wages down as low as possible. Mr. Palmer while talking on his own candidacy for mayor stated that one of Mayor Murphy's principal backers is a mill agent. Then he proceeded to discuss the Locks and Canals company which is composed of the different cotton mills and argued that this company wanted to keep industries with skilled and high priced labor out of

COBURNS' NUJOL

A PURE WHITE MINERAL OIL
ODORLESS, TASTELESS

The mineral oil treatment for constipation has received the unqualified endorsement of leading specialists both in this country and abroad. It has none of the dangers of the habit-forming laxatives, and is of particular value in the treatment of constipation in children.

Nujol is odorless and tasteless, absolutely neutral, and is not digested or absorbed into the system. It acts merely as a mechanical lubricant.

Nujol is not a drug. Its use will not give quick, temporary relief. But Nujol is a genuine remedy in that it relieves constipation in the most natural way by lubricating the lining of the intestines, softening the intestinal contents, and thus promoting healthy and normal bowel activity.

Lowell so that local labor having a limited field for employment would bid against itself for work thus keeping wage rates down to a low figure.

Two days later Hon. Roger Sherman Hoar, speaking on behalf of women's suffrage said:

"Last spring I spoke in this city before a club which includes among its members many mill owners and mill officers. These men were unanimously anti-suffrage. They are the only group of men that I have met in this state who are for anti-suffrage by a clear majority."

"The reason for this was explained by the head of one of your most important mills. He said, 'Women are essentially sympathetic. If they get the vote it means more human welfare legislation in the interest of our employees, and, of course, we can't stand for that.'"

"At once, I made up my mind to return to Lowell and tell you men where your interests lie."

"I have found that wherever there is an employer who treats his help badly and has nothing to fear from human welfare legislation, that man is a suffragist, but wherever there is an employer who grinds down his help and has much to fear from human welfare legislation, that man is an anti."

While talking local politics recently, I am informed, a local mill agent made the statement that he could make and unmake mayors of Lowell, and the same gentleman has surely been quite active in politics for the past four years.

There are three classes of men in Lowell who would be better off out of politics; mill agents, liquor dealers, and municipal employees who are under the civil service laws.

Traffic Rules

At Tuesday's meeting of the municipal council, the city solicitor was instructed to revise the traffic laws so as to include Middle street in the 20 minute section. Verily the approach of election brings about fine results. For over one year that same traffic rule has lain pigeon-holed at city hall disregarded and probably forgotten by the municipal council. It was one of several proposed traffic rules that the board of trade presented to the municipal council one year ago after a meeting of the merchants of Middle street had been held at which they asked relief from the dangerous practice of parking autos in that thoroughfare. But the municipal council side-tracked the proposition and then probably forgot it and it has remained in the city clerk's office ever since, while Middle street has been daily used as parking space for autos. Now some wise man who appreciates the fact that the time to get the members of the municipal council to pay attention, is when they are candidates for office, has gotten after the council with the result that the mayor has instructed the city solicitor to prepare the desired change in the traffic rules. All the city solicitor needs to do is to go down to the city clerk's office and resurrect the communication that has been there for a year.

Dunnigan vs. Marchand

In the eighth district a quieter campaign for senator was never waged. James P. Dunnigan, the democratic candidate, has been obliged to spend the greater part of his time during the day at court, having been drawn on the jury and sitting in that city. But during the evening he gets busy, and he fixed up his forces in the countryside of the district early in the campaign. Senator Marchand is taking things easy. It is doubtful if either will do any stump-speaking.

The Representative Contest

Both John W. Brennan, in the 14th district, and John J. Higgins, in the 15th, feel quite confident of being elected next Tuesday. Each has held one term and the men who succeeded them have nothing in their records to justify the change made by the voters one year ago. The contest between former Representative Brennan and Representative Coburn, both residents and town officials of Lowell, is particularly interesting on account of the closeness of the contest last year. There was only half a hundred votes between them, and it is admitted by friends of both that but for the candidacy of Mr. Lee, of the progressive ticket, Mr. Brennan would have been the winner. This year Mr. Lee is not a candidate, and it is assumed he will support Mr. Brennan, who while in the legislature consistently favored all legislation for the benefit of the wage-earners.

Messrs. Concorde and Crowley, the democratic candidates in the 15th district, appear to have the lower end of the stick considerably worse. They are conducting their campaign quietly but effectively.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

WHEN DANDY GOT SICK

Once upon a time after Frank had taught his pony, Dandy, all the tricks he could think of, he thought he would teach him to get his own dinner by going to the feed box, poking his nose under the lid and, in that way, get the corn. One day Frank was very busy playing ball and forgot to go to the barn to feed Dandy. Dandy waited beyond the usual time and then started out to get something to eat for himself. He went to the box, lifted up the cover, but much to his surprise found no corn there, for Frank had not put in any.

So Dandy hunted around and found where Frank kept the store of corn from which he filled the feed box. Dandy stuck his nose under the lid and began to eat as fast as he could. When he had eaten all he could, like a greedy boy, he trotted back to his stall. In a little while he began to feel very ill and he wished he hadn't eaten so much for his poor little stomach felt very bad and ached something awful.

When Frank remembered that he had not fed Dandy he hurried to the barn only to find a very sick pony groaning and moaning with a stomach ache. He had to give the pony some horrid medicine and stay with him a long time before Dandy felt better. The next day when he went to the barn to feed Dandy his dinner he found that the pony would not go near the feed box. He remembered how sick such an innocent looking box had made him the day before and would never feed himself again.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN

BANQUET TO BOYS—TOTAL ADDITION TO MEMBERSHIP IS 1071

The Y.M.C.A. membership campaign was brought to a close last night with a banquet for the boys in the gymnasium followed by a short parade which showed plenty of red fire and enthusiasm. Hinckley of the winning team and others. The boys then reported 52 names as their day's work, bringing the total number of members pledged during the campaign up to 1071, which is considered a fine showing by the campaign officials.

Following the banquet, the boys formed in line and headed by the Pawtucket drum corps marched down Merrimack street to the clock which was given its last boost.

Don't Forget

Coffee contains the drug, caffeine—about 2½ grains to the cup.

Some people use coffee for years and either forget or don't know that caffeine is a cumulative poison, working away in the system, insidiously undermining and destroying health.

Some of the signs are headache, heart flutter, sleeplessness, biliousness, and various stomach, kidney and liver troubles.

Of course, if one prefers his coffee, and is willing to put up with these "comforters," why—keep right on!

But, if one values health and real comfort, and at the same time would enjoy a delicious, wholesome beverage, the thing to do is to quit coffee and use

—the pure food-drink

Made of wheat with a bit of wholesome molasses, this delightful beverage is wholly free from coffee or caffeine or any other harmful substance, but rich in the health-building goodness of the grain. Good for old and young.

Ten days' trial—a little thing to do—is convincing.

There's a Reason for "POSTUM"

CRIMINAL COURT

Interesting Trial of Assault Case — Nutting Sent to Worcester

The case of Agrippina Cassary, who it is alleged assaulted with intent to kill Glauco Montenegro in a tenement block in Winchester on April 24, 1915, was brought to trial in superior criminal court yesterday afternoon. Assistant District Attorney Crowley handled the case for the government and Lawyer Thomas J. Grady of Boston appeared for the defendant. There was several clashes between counsel.

Montenegro was first called to the stand by Mr. Crowley and testified through an interpreter that he quit work at 5 o'clock that morning and went to his home to sleep. Upon arriving at the house, he said, his mother was waiting to prepare his breakfast. He said it was cold and that he did not go to his bed in the little but lay-down on a sofa in the kitchen. Montenegro says that he was still lying on the sofa at 12.30 p. m. when Mrs. Cassary opened the door and discharged a revolver at him. The bullet hit him in the left shoulder and passed through, making a scar on both sides. Montenegro bared his shoulder for the jury. After the Cassary woman had shot at Montenegro, some one came up and took the revolver away from her. He said he never had any trouble with the woman personally but admitted knowing that there was bad feeling between the woman and his mother, occasioned by disputes over their children.

Mrs. Montenegro testified that Mrs. Cassary was mad because she was going to move her family out of the tenement.

Agrippina Cassary was cross-examined by Assistant District Attorney Crowley at this morning's session. She said she shot at Montenegro because he was holding her so that his mother could get in back of her to assault her with a long knife.

The trial was notable for the number of clashes between Lawyer Crowley and Attorney Grady, counsel for the defendant. The latter was cautioned by the court to be more courteous towards his opponent.

Nutting Sent Away

Shortly before the adjournment of the session Harry E. Nutting of Groton, who murdered his son Everett C. and daughter Mattie L. on June 10, was brought before the court and ordered committed to the Worcester Insane asylum. Nutting was adjudged insane by several experts. The session then adjourned until tomorrow.

Banquet By Jury

At 2 o'clock the members of the jury held a banquet in the Richardson hotel. James P. Dunnigan of No. Chelmsford presided and introduced Ralph R. Patch as toastmaster. James E. Donnelly was the first called by toastmaster Patch and he favored with a number of pleasing allusions, ending up with several Scotch selections. Judge Robert F. Raymond gave an interesting talk on court work and instructive remarks were made by Assistant District Attorney Robert J. Crowley, Herbert L. Caulkins, a jurymen, Probation Officer James Ramsey, Frank M. Brogan, chairman of the jury organization, and others. Another selection by James E. Donnelly and the singing of "America" by the entire assembly closed the festivities.

IN POLICE COURT

Daniel A. Donahue was one of a trio of offenders brought before Judge Enright in the local court this forenoon. Daniel pleaded guilty to drunkenness but also faced a complaint made by Patrolman Swanwick charging that he destroyed the furniture in a lodging house on French street last night. The officer said the defendant tore the curtains and broke up the chamber set. Donahue did not remember but expressed a willingness to "make good" for any damage done and his case was continued until tomorrow so that the proprietor of the house could be interviewed.

AGAINST STRIKE DUTY

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS OPPOSE CALLING MILITIA ON STRIKES NOT RIOTS

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—John P. Meade of Brockton, representing the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the commission on military education and preparedness at the state house yesterday afternoon to outline the views of organized labor relative to military training.

A well defined policy by the state forbidding the use of the militia for strike duty, Mr. Meade said, would remove any objections the labor men now have to joining the militia. He emphasized the distinction between strike duty and "riot duty." The American Federation of Labor, he said, believes in the principle of obedience in law and would not object to the use of the militia in cases of riots where lives or property of citizens might be endangered.

$100,000 LOSS

Flames Swept Public Market Storehouse in Brockton

BROCKTON, Oct. 28.—Fire which swept the storehouse of the Brockton public market caused a loss estimated at nearly $100,000. The front portion of the building, known as the Holbrook building, separated from the storehouse by a fire wall, was not burned, but tons of water ran through the hallways into offices, causing more than $30,000 damage.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It started in the storehouse, on the fourth floor. When the firemen arrived the entire corner of the building was a mass of flames. By hard and fast work the firemen kept the flames from other portions of the building, the fire wall notwithstanding, one of the worst fires in the history of the city.

The fire was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock by Lee Howe, who sounded an alarm from box 21, which was followed closely by a second alarm. Warren O'Hara, manager of the Holbrook Players, a stock company appearing at the Hathaway theatre, adjoining the Holbrook building, and George Heald, the property manager, saw the fire just as flames did. Running up a ladder in the rear, they used fire extinguishers and a garden hose, with no effect.

The Holbrook building is occupied entirely by offices, except in the street floor, where a part of which is occupied by the P. W. Woolworth company, a 10-cent store. Practically every office in the building was damaged by water. One of the heaviest losers was the Rand Photo company, which lost 5000 valuable negatives, as well as thousands of dollars' worth of mounting stock. Other heavy losers were William Baumann, clothier; Miss Clara D. Chisholm, manicurist; the National Register company; Lenox Jewelry company; Miss Rita Fields, hairdresser; Claretta Millinery company; Mrs. J. E. Kingman, art embroiderer; Wilton Millinery company; Reliable Uniform company, and A. L. Pettigill, window shades.

The Woolworth company sustained a loss that will probably reach $15,000. Far away from the seat of fire, the store had its entire stock practically ruined by water, which flowed through the steel ceiling in rivers before the stock could be covered. The stock in the basement was also ruined.

The fire came at a time when the streets were filled, as the retail stores were open. The Woolworth company immediately cleared its store of shoppers and locked its doors. Customers in the stores above were also warned to leave and business was suspended for the night, the clerks devoting their time to getting the more valuable goods out of the reach of the water.

Throughout the excitement, Frederick Osborne, the elevator man in the Holbrook building, ran his car up and down for the convenience of firemen and tenants.

The water flowed into the Hathaway theatre building and for more than an hour prior to the opening for the evening's entertainment actors and actresses used brooms and mops to keep it out of the dressing rooms. The water found its way into the orchestra pit and upon the stage, but the performance started on time.

The Holbrook building is owned by Thomas A. Norris. His loss cannot be estimated until the condition of the interior of the building is known. The heaviest loss will fall on the Brockton public market, which had many thousands of dollars worth of stock and thousands of orders put up for morning delivery.

EX-GOV. ROLLINS DEAD

FORMER GOVERNOR OF NEW HAMPSHIRE HAD BEEN ILL A YEAR

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Frank West Rollins, former Governor of New Hampshire and president of the banking house of E. H. Rollins & Sons, died at 9 o'clock last evening in his apartment at the Hotel Somerset, of heart disease.

He had not been in good health for a year. Last winter he passed in California, and the early summer at York Harbor, Me. In August he went to Bath, Me., but he did not materially improve, and returned to Boston a month ago. He had been slowly but steadily failing. His wife and his son, Douglas Rollins, were with him when he died.

Funeral arrangements were not completed last night, but the funeral will probably be held Saturday at his home in Concord, N. H.

Though governor only for a single and an uneventful term he associated his name closely with two large and important movements of our time, the Old Home week movement, he was practically the father, and he started the campaign that led to holding old-home weeks in nearly every New England city and town.

With the campaign for governmental protection of forests and the establishment of forest reserves he was closely identified from the start, and to him as much as to any single man is due the credit for what has been accomplished in that field.

LADY PAGET PRISONER

HOSPITAL IN SERBIA FALLS INTO HANDS OF BULGARIANS—INTENDS TO REMAIN AT HER POST

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The hospital in Serbia of Lady Ralph Paget, wife of the permanent under secretary for foreign affairs, has fallen into the hands of the Bulgarians through the capture of Skopje. There are several Americans on the staff of this hospital.

A telegram received yesterday by Sir Ralph says Lady Paget and the staff intend to remain at their post and that it is not thought their position is perilous. The hospital probably will be internationalized; otherwise, the staff probably would be interned.

Lady Paget is well known in Lowell having close relatives here.

FISH AND GAME BANQUET

BIG EVENT SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT AT THE NEW AMERICAN HOUSE

The Lowell Fish and Game association is going to have a banquet and tonight's night. The affair will be held at the New American House and covers will be set for nearly 200. The banquet committee refuses to disclose the exact nature of the program, but that there is going to be "some class" is evinced by the elaborate decorations already installed. There will be a good list of speakers, including Judge Samuel P. Hadley, who is deeply interested in the aims and efforts of the Lowell Fish and Game association. Judge Hadley will undoubtedly tell of the old fishing days on the Merrimack river and in reminiscence mood there is none more interesting than the man, who for many years, tempered justice with mercy in the police court of Lowell. Simon B. Harris, president of the association, will preside and so far as the dinner bill is concerned, they do tell that it will be a corker. There will be a reception in the hotel parlors from 6.30 to 7.30 and dinner will be served at 7.45.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercurized wax will actually remove it, and Nature will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of sear skin come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercurized wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moths, patches, blackheads and pimples. Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in 1 pint witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.

STOP EXECUTING WOMEN

GERMAN GOVERNMENT WILL COMMUTE DEATH SENTENCE, SPAIN IS INFORMED

MADRID, via Paris, Oct. 28.—The Marquis de Lema, minister of foreign affairs, announces that he has received information which leads him to believe that death sentences imposed on women in Brussels will be commuted.

Aside from Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, who was shot recently in Belgium, the names of only two women who were condemned to death have become known. They are the Countess Johanna de Belleville, a Belgian, and Miss Louise Thulier, a French school teacher. A dispatch from London on Oct. 22 said Emperor William had notified King Alfonso of Spain that he had pardoned these two women.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

Have you noticed the big crowds that have been flocking to the Opera House all this week? The Emerson players in their production of "Bought and Paid For" have certainly conquered the theatre patrons of this city. "Bought and Paid For" which has been splendidly endorsed by the press and public of Lowell is the record smashing attraction of the season. There is an exceptional demand for seats for the remaining performances and patrons should secure their tickets early and as many as possible attend the matinee performance as hundreds are certain to be turned away. The box office is open daily from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. so, if you haven't secured seats do so now.

"Bought and Paid For" has come to Lowell with a wonderful reputation of two solid years in New York, two years in Chicago and over six months in Boston. It is a powerful play, with a wonderful punch and of all the plays that have been offered in Lowell, none has had the great qualifications that this Broadway drama possesses. It tells the story of a telephone operator who marries a wealthy clubman. For a time they are happy. Then he starts to "tip the bottle" and coming home intoxicated, insists upon showering his young wife with kisses and embraces. When she refuses, he upbraids her and reminds her that she is his, that he has "Bought and Paid For" her. The following incidents are gripping and thrilling and tell a wonderful story.

Homer Barton as Robert Stafford is very good and his portrayal one of the finest pieces of acting that Lowell has seen in a long time. Ann O'Day as Virginia Blaine is indeed charming and again displays her wonderful versatile powers. Joe Crehan as Jimmy Gilley and Nora Booth as Fanny Gilley furnish many laughs with their magnificent work. Frank Wright makes a splendid Oku while Dorel Goodwin as the maid is good.

The scenic production of "Bought and Paid For" surpasses everything that Lowell has ever seen. Director Wright and Scenic Artist Hatch, have arranged these beautiful settings. The furniture used in this production was especially built for this play and adds to the grandeur of the play.

"Bought and Paid For" is the attraction for this week only. Do not be left out in the cold. Secure your seats now by phoning 261 and then you will be able to tell your friends that you saw this superb production.

Next week, the Emerson players will present the celebrated, dramatic hit, "The Family Cupboard," which ran for over two years at William A. Brady's Playhouse in New York City to capacity business and had wonderful runs in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. It is being offered in Lowell for the first time and at popular prices and besides all the old favorites in the company, there will be many, secured especially for this production.

Seats are now selling for the entire week so make your reservations now. The better way is to place your name on the subscription list. It will save time. The wonderful attractions that have been booked for the Opera House will prove the most enjoyable season in years and everyone will go every week.

real New York cabaret.

The reason is not hard to find: the eight musicians and dancers went on the stage direct from one of the biggest of New York restaurants, where, for months, they were quite the rage. It is a great, abundant in lightning changes, rapid dancing, pop melodies played intimately and some wonderful stage effects.

Albert Hawthorne and Jack Ingalls in "A Fool There Is" have a mighty fetching bit of nonsense. The two men are called upon to entertain in a most unusual way. They have neither dialog nor plot nor dances to offer, but they look about them for material and succeed in turning everything into laughter. At every performance they are encircled again and again. Bertha Creighton, supported by an excellent company, plays a very clever comedy called "Our Husband." It is far above the average in its plot, and Miss Creighton, who is unusually accomplished, does wonders with it. Beaman Anderson ought to catch the fancy of the local roller skaters for they are unquestionably the best performers on the rollers appearing in public today.

Carl Rossini, who does a lot of illusion work, is so clever that he baffles the guesses of experts; and Sylvester & Vance appear in a comedy sketch. Ruby Wallace is a charming singing comedienne. Yesterday afternoon Pick H. Bagley of 64 Hampshire street won the 61-piece set of Moxie dishes, he holding the lucky scratch check. Good seats may be obtained in advance at the box office. Phone 23.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Blanche Sweet and Jane Cowl are two names of stars which will be found on the program of excellent pictures to be shown today, tomorrow and Saturday at the comfortable Merrimack Square Theatre. Blanche Sweet will be seen in the five-act Paramount photo-drama, "The Hidden Sin," and it can be truly said that in this picture she certainly lives up to her name, being as sweet as ever in the leading role of this absorbing tale which deals with a very important question, namely, that of opium using. The play is one of vital importance for it deals with a question which has at many times caused much concern and against which there has been much rigid legislation. The other five-act feature for the next three days of the week and the one in which Jane Cowl will appear is "The Law of the Land," which is a picture which is of the strong, appealing type and is one which everyone who appreciates only the best in motion pictures should see. The Paramount pictures and a funny comedy hit are also included in this program. Each lady attending the matinee tomorrow afternoon will receive as a souvenir a beautiful photograph of Geraldine Farrar who will soon be seen at this theatre in her screen debut "Carmen."

OWL THEATRE
The sensational photoplay, "The White Sister," scored a big hit at the Owl theatre yesterday. The famous star, Viola Allen, is featured in this picture, and in it she does the greatest work of her wonderful career. Several other excellent photoplays will also be shown at the Owl today.

Mr. Wilson in conversation with a Sun reporter this afternoon said he has leased the store next the Merrimack Square theatre in Paige street, now occupied by a photographer and as soon as his lease runs out he will occupy his new quarters.

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and joints, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Anuric." The new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and

Backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Company examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. GOVERNOR AT WORCESTER

Great Ovation by 3600 People— Strong Address on Railroad Situation—Other Issues

At Worcester last night Gov. Walsh got a great ovation by 3600 people in Mechanics hall. He dealt with the railroad situation at some length, as that city is much interested in the problem involved. The governor told how the New Haven broke faith with Gov. Draper and the wreck of the Boston & Maine followed, and stated that a duty to the whole people required adjustment or arbitration of the present freight handlers' strike.

"One year ago," said the governor, "I urged upon the voters of the state that with the problems of New Haven re-organization to come before the legislature Mr. McCall with his reactionary opposition to railroad control legislation in congress should not be elected to the governorship. The attempt to introduce into the legislature a dangerous doctrine which would mean higher freight and passenger rates and which I killed with my veto, justified that claim."

The Investigation

"The resolve for an investigation of the New Haven's holdings of subsidiary lines which I forced the legislature to adopt after that reactionary body had once mysteriously defeated it is now under way and the report upon it will be submitted to the next legislature. That legislature will then be called upon to decide what lines shall be ordered to be disposed of and what lines, if any, the company shall be authorized to retain, and more important than all else, what legislation shall be passed to prevent further violations of the law."

"With these matters before the legislature, who do you wish to have on guard in the governor's office, Mr. McCall, with his reactionary railroad record, or your present governor, who for two years has kept faith with the people, and who in the last legislative session defeated the raid upon the pockets of the public attempted in the mysterious amendments of the New Haven reorganization bill?"

Broke Faith with Governor

"That the forces which have controlled the New Haven railroad did not hesitate to break faith even with the governor of this commonwealth was disclosed a few days ago in the trial of the New Haven directors in New York, when the government offered evidence that the merger of the Boston & Maine and New Haven systems was approved by the late Gov. Draper only upon the promise that he was to name the president of the Boston & Maine and that that promise was repudiated by the railroad directors. Gov. Draper, an able business man, doubtless foresaw the possibilities of evil in the merger and insisted as a measure of protection to the interest of the public that he should have the naming of the president of the Maine system, but before the ink had hardly dried upon his signature the New Haven directors broke their promise and named a president of their own choosing. Everybody knows what a carnival of exploitation of the Boston & Maine system followed with losses of millions to its stockholders until today it is divorced from the New Haven by national decree and its seeking ways of rehabilitation.

"A few weeks ago the public service commission of New Hampshire completed its investigation of the activities of the Boston & Maine system in influencing the making of legislation in that state. Uncontradicted evidence was presented that in a period of three years $170,000 was spent in payments to counsel, lobbyists, newspapers, and to members of the legislature themselves in maintaining the power of 'invisible government' in that state."

The Freight Strike

"Over three-quarters of a million dollars were spent for persuasion, if not corruption, funds, and after all this waste of the money of the stockholders President Hustis of the Boston & Maine is today refusing to arbitrate the request for an increase in wages for a few hundred striking freight handlers, and he gives as his reason that the company in its present financial condition cannot afford to increase the wages of any of its employees. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent to influence the people and legislature of New Hampshire, and now a strike may be forced which would shut up the commerce and industries of New England because the financial condition of the company is such, its officers claim, that it cannot even submit to an arbitration board the need of some of its employees for increased wages or shorter hours of labor."

Duty to the People

"Without attempting to decide or in any way to pass upon the merits of the matter in controversy, the facts that all the railroad lines in the eastern part of the country are gripped with freight and that a general strike would bring disaster to the business interests of the commonwealth, impose upon the parties interested a duty to the whole people, that the matters at issue be adjusted at once or submitted to some form of arbitration. This duty devolves in no less degree upon the railroad corporations which get their charters from the people, than upon the striking wage workers."

The other issues of the campaign were briefly touched upon, and the governor was cheered to the echo.

SITUATION IN SOUTHERN SERBIA IS SOMEWHAT MORE FAVORABLE

LONDON, Oct. 28, 11.42 a. m.—Unofficial reports from Greek sources represent the situation in southern Serbia as somewhat more favorable to the entente allies. A despatch from Athens, which has not been confirmed, states that the Bulgarians have withdrawn from Uskup. Advances from Saloniki tell of a fierce battle along the Velez-Koumanovo front, with the Bulgarians retreating. Hope is being revived in London that the Serbians will be able to re-form their lines along the Morava front.

The Germans having effected a junction with their Bulgarian allies, it is possible that the campaign will be shifted from an effort to relieve Serbia to an attempt to cut communication with Constantinople. In this connection several military critics hazard the guess that the entente allies are not likely to withdraw from Saloniki, but rather what happens to Serbia.

Riga and Ploetz remain the chief German objectives on the eastern front. The direction of the German assault, however, is reported west of the city, the main attacks against which hitherto have been directed from the southwest and southeast. Lake Raitze, where minor engagements have occurred in west of Riga, running parallel with the shore of the Gulf.

On the other fronts comparative inactivity prevails.

DOG KILLED BY AUTO

A valuable dog was hit by an automobile on the Andover street bridge last evening about 6.45 o'clock and the driver kept right on going. Although the canine's back was broken it lay near the curb on the bridge for nearly two hours before Agent Richardson arrived with the messenger that sent it to the happy hunting grounds. The dog was a Boston bull and is said to belong to a woman residing in High street. This makes the fourth dog to be either hit or run over by an automobile in two weeks.

BOMB PLOTTERS

Officials Seek Men Who Financed Plot to Blow Up Ships

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Efforts of federal prosecutors and secret service agents here were directed today to an investigation of the financial backing of the leaders of the conspiracy to blow up war munition plants and ships, of which Lieut. Robert Fay of the German army is alleged to be the head.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service, was quoted today as saying:

"I believe we are going to get the financiers of this plot. Fay said he had spent only $4000. Paul Siebs says that Fay told him he had $5000 when he started for this country. We believe Fay spent $30,000."

United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall does not believe that the most important of the conspirators have yet been captured and expects that other arrests will be made.

The federal officials said that if the men who furnished money for Fay and his associates are discovered they will be called upon to face charges as serious as those against the men already arrested.

Paul Siebs said today that he was going to appear against the alleged conspirators as a witness for the state because he had been deceived and led into a trap. Siebs, who declares that he lived in Chicago from 1910 to 1913 as a clerk and traveling auditor, said that he came to the United States after visiting Germany last year to buy copper for the use of Germany.

Capt. Harold C. Woodward of the United States corps of engineers, an expert in high explosives, said that a bomb or mine such as Fay admitted he was preparing to attach to the rudders of ships leaving here with war supplies, would have been sufficient to have blown the end off the steamers if the bombs were filled with the explosives Fay purchased.

FAY REPUDIATED

Bornstorf Denies Man Charged With Bomb Plot Had Any Standing in Germany

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Count von Bornstorf, the German ambassador, has telegraphed the state department that Robert Fay, arrested by federal authorities at New York for conspiracy to place bombs on departing ships, has no connection with the German secret service or the German government.

With this assurance the state department is disposed to leave it to the courts to deal with the alleged conspiracy to attach explosives to vessels carrying munitions of war for the allies.

THE CAVELL CASE

Berlin Says U. S. Minister Denies British Reports of Execution

BERLIN, Oct. 27. (By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—The Overseas News Agency today gave out a statement regarding the case of Miss Edith Cavell, the English nurse, who was executed recently in Belgium, at the outset of which it declares that "the United States minister in Brussels, (Brand Whitlock) states that the British government publications regarding the Cavell case are untrue so far as he is concerned."

"The British government," says the news agency statement, "published the correspondence between the American legation in Brussels and the German authorities there in the Cavell case, the correspondence having been put at the disposal of the British government by the United States ambassador in London."

"The principal facts are inaccurately represented, especially the statement making it appear as if the German authorities by vain promises had put off the minister in order to conceal the sentence, by which means he was robbed of the possibility of intervention on behalf of Miss Cavell, the sentence being hastily executed in the meantime. Further, Sir Edward Grey stated that the German authorities had not kept the promise given to the American minister to inform him about the course of the proceedings."

"The German authorities never gave such a promise, this being admitted by the United States minister in Brussels. The minister further states that he was most painfully affected by the publications and will immediately inform the American ambassador in London and the United States government."

TO ATTEMPT SETTLEMENT

BOSTON, Oct. 27.—J. H. Smyth of Renova, Pa., who was appointed by Secretary Wilson of the department of commerce and labor, to attempt a settlement of the freight handlers' strike here held a conference at Mayor Curley's office today with officials of the Central Labor union which had taken full charge of the strikers' case. After the situation, from the standpoint of the strikers, had been explained to him, Mr. Smyth conferred with officials of the three railroads affected by the work of 1500 employees.

While efforts are still being made to adjust the differences it was said that representatives of the Central Labor union informed Mr. Smyth that they were ready to call a sympathetic strike unless the railroads acceded to the demands of the freight handlers.

At their conference with Mr. Smyth the labor leaders agreed not to call a general strike until he had been given full opportunity to investigate the situation.

GET $1 IN FOUR BREAKS

BURGERS ROBBED FOUR R. R. STATIONS BETWEEN MANCHESTER AND NASHUA

MANCHESTER, N. H., Oct. 27.—Burglars robbed the four railway station ticket offices between Manchester and Nashua last night, but secured comparatively little plunder or money in either one.

In each of the places the till was clumsily broken open and a few pennies and nickels secured. The telephone slot machines were also smashed and contents taken. The stations visited were Merrimack, Reed's Ferry, Thornton Perry and Goff's Falls. At the latter place several valuables were taken while at Reed's Ferry only three cents was secured. It is estimated that less than a dollar in money was the net proceeds of the four breaks.

These places have each and all of them been robbed on previous occasions several of them a number of times.

STREET RAILWAY FARES

Public Service Commission Replies to Board of Trade Relative to Investigation of Service

The Lowell board of trade has received a reply from the public service commission in its request that the state make a detailed survey of the street railway traffic in Lowell in connection with the proposed increase in fares.

The communication in full is as follows: Boston, Mass., Oct. 26, 1915. Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary, Lowell Board of Trade, 36 Central block, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir:—

Acknowledging receipt of your letter of October 23rd, addressed to the secretary of the commission, in which you regret the delay in replying to the request of the Lowell board of trade as set forth in your communication of October 14th, namely, that the commission make a detailed and expert study of the street railway traffic of the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns, to determine whether an increase in fares, and a curtailment of transfer privileges, and the change of transfer points would be justified. The request is now an easy one to answer for reasons which will appear, but first it may be well to think, to inform you as to some of the steps which the commission proposes to take in the investigation of the fare case.

It will be necessary to ascertain, as nearly as possible, the amount of capital invested honestly and with reasonable prudence in the property. We are determined that the company has made a thorough inventory and appraisal of the property and that the results of this appraisal will be presented to the commission. Every opportunity will be given for the cross-examination of the witnesses who present this evidence, and the company will also check it up, through its own engineering and inspection departments. The commission will further make a careful examination of the records in this office. In connection with stock and bond issues, etc., and the books of the company with a view to determining the soundness and integrity of the company's capitalization and the amount, if any, of inflation in development.

It will be necessary to examine the books and accounts of the company and its methods of operation, with a view to determining how economically and efficiently it is managed at the present time and how far, if at all, its financial condition has been adversely affected by the extravagance or other forms of mismanagement in the past. Already, for example, the engineers of the commission are studying the company's records to determine the cost of service.

It will be necessary to determine, so far as possible, what part of the reasonable investment may fairly be assigned to each locality, such as Lowell, and to ascertain the actual results from operation in each locality, and to determine the investment assignable to such locality. We understand that the company intends to present such evidence, but if it does not, the commission will develop it for itself by means of its own experts. Later the commission will wish to hear from the company as to the necessity for an increase in fares, the company's system should be treated as a unit or as in how far the results from operation in the various localities should have been taken into account. There are other lines of investigation which it will doubtless be necessary to pursue, but the above will in general give you some idea of the commission's plan to handle the matter. Coming back, then, to the board of trade's request, the board asks us to make a detailed study and survey of street railway traffic in Lowell and vicinity. We are in some doubt as to what is meant by this. If it means that we are asked to determine how far the present service and facilities are reasonably adequate to accommodate the traffic, there is at least a question as to how far such evidence is material in the consideration of the fare case. If the service is inadequate, the company should certainly be required to make it adequate, but it would seem that the furnishing of any additional service would in no way diminish the need for increased fares, if such need can now be demonstrated.

However, such a study is one which the commission may properly be asked to undertake, quite apart from the question of the increase in fares. Our only difficulty is as to our facilities for conducting such an investigation. A study of the street railway traffic of the board of trade has in mind is not a simple matter. It is a complicated and expensive undertaking. It involves an enormous number of observations of the riding characteristics of the various lines in the district covered, passenger counts, etc., at various hours of the day and extending over a considerable period of time. It also involves a careful study of the routing of the lines, which is itself an intricate and difficult question.

The facilities of the commission for making such a study, including its funds, are very limited and if every city and town served by the Bay State company should make such a request we should literally be swamped by the work. However, we have men in our inspection department who are quite competent to undertake such a study, and it occurs to us that an arrangement might be made whereby the commission could secure the co-operation and assistance of the board of trade and the city authorities in connection with the study. It might be possible, for example, for the city to furnish a certain number of men who could be used in making the necessary observations. If, after reading this letter and learning of the plans of the commission, the board of trade still feels that a traffic study is desirable, we suggest that it might be well to have a conference to discuss the commission's plan, and to determine the division for the investigation of the fare question, the board of trade still feels that a traffic study is desirable.

STREET RAILWAY FARES

Public Service Commission Replies to Board of Trade Relative to Investigation of Service

The Lowell board of trade has received a reply from the public service commission in its request that the state make a detailed survey of the street railway traffic in Lowell in connection with the proposed increase in fares.

The communication in full is as follows: Boston, Mass., Oct. 26, 1915. Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary, Lowell Board of Trade, 36 Central block, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir:—

Acknowledging receipt of your letter of October 23rd, addressed to the secretary of the commission, in which you regret the delay in replying to the request of the Lowell board of trade as set forth in your communication of October 14th, namely, that the commission make a detailed and expert study of the street railway traffic of the city of Lowell and the surrounding towns, to determine whether an increase in fares, and a curtailment of transfer privileges, and the change of transfer points would be justified. The request is now an easy one to answer for reasons which will appear, but first it may be well to think, to inform you as to some of the steps which the commission proposes to take in the investigation of the fare case.

It will be necessary to ascertain, as nearly as possible, the amount of capital invested honestly and with reasonable prudence in the property. We are determined that the company has made a thorough inventory and appraisal of the property and that the results of this appraisal will be presented to the commission. Every opportunity will be given for the cross-examination of the witnesses who present this evidence, and the company will also check it up, through its own engineering and inspection departments. The commission will further make a careful examination of the records in this office. In connection with stock and bond issues, etc., and the books of the company with a view to determining the soundness and integrity of the company's capitalization and the amount, if any, of inflation in development.

It will be necessary to examine the books and accounts of the company and its methods of operation, with a view to determining how economically and efficiently it is managed at the present time and how far, if at all, its financial condition has been adversely affected by the extravagance or other forms of mismanagement in the past. Already, for example, the engineers of the commission are studying the company's records to determine the cost of service.

It will be necessary to determine, so far as possible, what part of the reasonable investment may fairly be assigned to each locality, such as Lowell, and to ascertain the actual results from operation in each locality, and to determine the investment assignable to such locality. We understand that the company intends to present such evidence, but if it does not, the commission will develop it for itself by means of its own experts. Later the commission will wish to hear from the company as to the necessity for an increase in fares, the company's system should be treated as a unit or as in how far the results from operation in the various localities should have been taken into account. There are other lines of investigation which it will doubtless be necessary to pursue, but the above will in general give you some idea of the commission's plan to handle the matter. Coming back, then, to the board of trade's request, the board asks us to make a detailed study and survey of street railway traffic in Lowell and vicinity. We are in some doubt as to what is meant by this. If it means that we are asked to determine how far the present service and facilities are reasonably adequate to accommodate the traffic, there is at least a question as to how far such evidence is material in the consideration of the fare case. If the service is inadequate, the company should certainly be required to make it adequate, but it would seem that the furnishing of any additional service would in no way diminish the need for increased fares, if such need can now be demonstrated.

However, such a study is one which the commission may properly be asked to undertake, quite apart from the question of the increase in fares. Our only difficulty is as to our facilities for conducting such an investigation. A study of the street railway traffic of the board of trade has in mind is not a simple matter. DIRECTORATE REDUCED

TWO DROPPED BY NEW HAVEN—PROTEST AGAINST FAILURE TO PROSECUTE DIRECTORS

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 27.—The directorate of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. was cut to 15 members at the annual meeting of stockholders today. The existing board of 15 was re-elected. H. K. Mehlberg and F. P. Bravetter resigned as directors yesterday. Their membership made the old board 17 in number, the minimum provided for by a change in by-laws at the annual meeting a year ago.

Aside from acceptance of the annual statement, no other business was done. The debate over various incidental matters was lengthy.

A. P. French of Boston protested against the directors' action in not prosecuting former directors for alleged mismanagement as set forth in the report of the interstate commerce commission of its inquiry into the New Haven's affairs.

President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale, a director, defended the directors' action and pointed out that Mr. French's protest had little weight as he had not availed himself of the opportunity to assist the directors in their consideration of evidence which might have been used against the alleged recreant directors.

Later when the vote was taken on the election of directors Mr. French protested as a matter of record, against proxies being voted which had been solicited by the company's officers. Two stockholders refused to vote because the management had proxies for more than a majority of the stock.

A SPECIAL CONVENTION

HOUSE OF BISHOPS OF EPISCOPAL CHURCHES MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A special convention of the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church of America probably will be called in the near future in an effort to prevent the Episcopal board of missions from carrying out its intention of sending delegates to the Panama Inter-denominational missionary congress, to be held in February, according to Bishop Reginald H. Weller of Boston, Mass.

Bishop Weller was one of the five church dignitaries who resigned from the board of missions when the board at the first session of its quarterly meeting yesterday, refused to rescind a former resolution authorizing participation in the Panama congress. Neither Bishop Weller nor Bishop Harlan of Washington, D. C., and the Rev. Dr. T. M. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York city, two of the others who tendered their resignations, attended today's session of the board meeting despite efforts made by other members of the board to effect a withdrawal of the resignations.

The controversy over the question of participation in the Panama congress was continued today, but the issues which brought about the controversy were more clearly defined. The final opinion of the meeting was that there would be no harm in the board participating in the Panama congress if the delegates merely conferred with delegates of other denominations and did not take part in any legislation or action looking toward co-operation in Protestant missionary work in Latin-American countries.

Roumanian's attitude in the war is a matter of the most intense interest to Europe and the world, since her well trained army of 600,000 men, well trained and equipped, especially with field artillery, may prove the decisive factor in the Balkans, now the most important theatre of war. CRIMINAL COURT

The case of Agrippina Cassary, who it is alleged assaulted with intent to kill Giatano Montenegro in a tenement block in Winchester on April 24, 1915, was brought to trial in superior criminal court yesterday afternoon. Assistant District Attorney Crowley handled the case for the government and Lawyer Thomas J. Grady of Boston appeared for the defendant. There were several clashes between counsel.

Montenegro was first called to the stand by Mr. Crowley and testified through an interpreter that he quit work at 5 o'clock that morning and went to his home at 1239 p. m. arriving at the house, he said, his mother was waiting to prepare his breakfast. He said it was cold and that he did not go to his bed in the attic but lay down on a sofa in the kitchen. Montenegro says that he was still lying on the sofa at 12:30 p. m. when Mrs. Cassary opened the door and discharged a revolver at him. The bullet hit him in the left shoulder and passed through, making a scar on both sides. Montenegro bared his shoulder for the jury. After the Cassary woman had fired the revolver, someone came up and took the revolver away from her. He said he never had any trouble with the woman personally but admitted knowing that there was bad feeling between the woman and his mother, occasioned by disputes over their children.

Mrs. Montenegro testified that Mrs. Cassary was mad because she was going to move her family out of the tenement.

Agrippina Cassary was cross-examined by Assistant District Attorney Crowley at this morning's session. She said she shot Montenegro because he was holding her so that his mother could get in back of her to assault her with a long knife.

The trial was notable for the number of clashes between Lawyer Crowley and Attorney Grady, counsel for the defendant. The latter was cautioned by the court to be more courteous towards his opponent.

Nutting Sent Away

Shortly before the adjournment of the session Harry E. Nutting of Groton, who murdered his son Everett C. and daughter Mattie L. on June 19, was brought before the court and ordered committed to the Worcester Insane asylum. Nutting was adjudged insane by several experts. The session then adjourned until tomorrow.

Banquet by Jury

At 2 o'clock the members of the jury held a banquet in the Richardson hotel. James P. Dunnigan of No. Chelmsford presided and introduced Ralph R. Patch as toastmaster. James E. Donnelly was the first called by Toastmaster Patch and he favored with a number of pleasing ballads, ending up with several Scotch selections. Judge Robert F. Raymond gave an interesting talk on court work and instructive remarks were made by Assistant District Attorney Robert F. Crowley, Herbert L. Caulkins, a jurymen, Probation Officer James Ramsey, Frank M. Brogan, chairman of the jury organization, and others. Another selection by James E. Donnelly and the singing of "America" by the entire assembly closed the festivities.

IN POLICE COURT

Daniel A. Donahue was one of a trio of offenders brought before Judge Enright in the local court this forenoon. Daniel pleaded guilty to drunkenness but also faced a complaint made by Patrolman Swanwick charging that he destroyed the furniture in a lodging house on French street last night. The officer said the defendant tore the curtains and broke up the chamber pot. Donahue did not remember but expressed a willingness to "make good" for any damage done and his case was continued until tomorrow so that the proprietor of the house could be interviewed.

One woman made her first appearance for drunkenness but after her husband testified that she had been drinking steadily of late, she was committed to jail for a short period. An erring husband was arraigned for assaulting his wife and sentenced to five months in the house of correction.

AGAINST STRIKE DUTY

LABOR ORGANIZATIONS OPPOSE CALLING MILITIA ON STRIKES NOT RIOTS

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—John P. Meade of Brockton, representing the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the commission on military education and preparedness at the state house yesterday afternoon to outline the views of organized labor relative to military training.

A well defined policy by the state forbidding the use of the militia for strike duty, Mr. Meade said, would remove any objections the labor men now have to joining the militia. He emphasized the distinction between strike duty and "riot duty," the American Federation of Labor, he said, believes in the principle of obedience to law and would not object to the use of the militia in cases of riots where lives or property of citizens might be endangered.

$100,000 LOSS

Flames Swept Public Market Storehouse in Brockton

BROCKTON, Oct. 28.—Fire which swept the storehouse of the Brockton public market caused a loss estimated at nearly $100,000. The front portion of the building, known as the Holbrook building, separated from the storehouse by a fire wall, was not burned, but tons of water ran through the hallways into offices, causing more than $20,000 damage.

The cause of the fire is unknown. It started in the storehouse, on the fourth floor. When the firemen arrived the entire corner of the building was a mass of flames. By hard and fast work the firemen kept the flames from other parts of the building, the fire in fact, undoubtedly preventing one of the worst fires in the history of the city.

The fire was discovered shortly after 7 o'clock by Lee Howes, who sounded an alarm from box 21, which was followed closely by a second alarm. Warren O'Brien, manager of the Hathaway Players, a stock company, appearing at the Hathaway theatre, adjoining the Holbrook building, and George Heel, the property man, saw the fire just as Howes did. Running up a ladder in the rear, they used fire extinguishers and a garden hose, with no effect.

The Holbrook building is occupied entirely by offices, except in the street floor and basement, all of which is occupied by the F. W. Woolworth company, a 10-cent store. Practically every office in the building was damaged by water. One of the heaviest losses was the Rand Photo company, which lost valuable negatives, as well as thousands of dollars worth of mounting stock. Other heavy losses were William Baumann, clothier; Miss Clara D. Chisholm, manicurist; the National Register company; Lenox Jewelry company; Miss Rita Fields, hairdresser; Clarence Millinery company; Mrs. J. L. Kingman, art embroiderer; Wilton Millinery company; Reliable Uniform company; and A. L. Pettigill, window shades.

The Woolworth company sustained a loss that will probably reach $15,000. Far away from the seat of fire, the store had its entire stock practically ruined by water, which flowed through the ceiling, settling in rivers before the stock could be covered. The stock in the basement was also ruined.

The fire came at a time when the streets were filled, as the retail stores were open. The Woolworth company immediately cleared its store of shoppers and locked its doors. Customers in the stores above were also warned to leave and business was suspended for the night, the clerks directing their time to getting the more valuable goods out of the reach of water.

Throughout the excitement Frederick Osburn, the elevator man in the Holbrook building, ran his car up and down for the convenience of firemen and tenants.

The fire flowed into the Hathaway theatre building and for more than an hour prior to the opening for the evening's entertainment, actors and actresses used brooms and mops to keep it out of the dressing rooms. The water found its way into the orchestra pit and upon the stage, but the performance started on time.

The Holbrook building is owned by Thomas A. Norris. His loss cannot be estimated until the condition of the interior of the building is known. The heaviest loss will fall on the Brockton public market, which had many thousands of dollars worth of stock and thousands of orders put up for morning delivery.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question is asked every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but often due to disordered blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons food-elements are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the system better able to withstand the varying elements. This is the important reason why Scott's Emulsion should always be taken for colds, and it does more—builds strength to prevent sickness.

Scott's Emulsion contains Nature's rare strength building fats, so skillfully blended that the blood profits from every drop. It is free from harmful drugs or alcohol. Sold at drug stores—always get the genuine.

EX-GOV. ROLLINS DEAD

FORMER GOVERNOR OF NEW HAMPSHIRE HAD BEEN ILL A YEAR

POSTON, Oct. 28.—Frank West Rollins, former Governor of New Hampshire and president of the banking house of E. H. Rollins & Sons, died at 9 o'clock last evening in his apartment at the Hotel Somerset, of heart disease.

He had not been in good health for a year. Last winter he passed in California, and the early summer at York Harbor, Me. In August he went to Battle Creek, Mich., but he did not materially improve, and returned to Boston a month ago. He has been slowly but steadily failing. His wife and his son, Douglas Rollins, were with him when he died.

Funeral arrangements were not completed last night, but the funeral will probably be held Saturday at his home in Concord, N. H.

Though governor only for a single and an uneventful term he associated his name closely with two large and important movements of our time, the Old-time week movement, he was practically the father, and he started the campaign that led to holding old-time weeks in nearly every New England city and town.

With the campaign for governmental protection of forests and the establishment of forest reserves he was closely identified from the start, and to him as much as to any single man is due the credit for what has been accomplished in that field.

STOP EXECUTING WOMEN

GERMAN GOVERNMENT WILL COMMUTE DEATH SENTENCE, SPAIN IS INFORMED

MADRID, via Paris, Oct. 28.—The Marquis de Lema, minister of foreign affairs, announces that he has received information which leads him to believe that death sentences imposed on women in Brussels will be commuted.

Aside from Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, who was shot recently in Belgium, the names of only two other women who were condemned to death have become known. They are the Countess Johanna de Belleville, a Belgian, and Miss Louise Thulier, a French school teacher. A dispatch from London on Oct. 25 said Emperor William had notified King Alfonso of Spain that he had pardoned these two women.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

OPERA HOUSE

Have you noticed the big crowds that have been flocking to the Opera House all this week? The Emerson players in their production of "Bought and Paid For" have certainly conquered the theatre patrons of this city. "Bought and Paid For" which has been splendidly endorsed by the press and public of Lowell is the record smashing attraction of the season. There is an exceptional demand for seats for the remaining performances and patrons should secure their tickets early and as many as possible attend the matinee performance as hundreds are certain to be turned away. The box office is open daily from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. so, if you haven't secured seats do so now.

"Bought and Paid For" has come to Lowell with a wonderful reputation of two solid years in New York, two years in Chicago and over six months in Boston. It is a powerful play, with a wonderful punch and of all the plays that have been offered in Lowell, none has had the great qualifications that this Broadway drama possesses. It tells the story of a telephone operator who marries a wealthy clubman. For a time they are happy. Then she starts to "run the bottle" and coming home intoxicated, insists upon showering his young wife with kisses and embraces. When she refuses, he upbraids her and reminds her that she is his, that he has "Bought and Paid For" her. The following incidents are gripping and thrilling and tell a wonderful story.

Home Barton as Robert Stafford is very good and his portrayal of the finest pieces of acting that Lowell has seen in a long time. Anna O'Day as Virginia Blaine is indeed charming and again displays her wonderful versatile powers. Joe Crehan as Jimmy Gilley and Dora Booth as Fanny Gilley furnish many laughs with their magnificent work. Frank Wright makes a splendid Oku while Dore Goodwin as the maid is good.

The scenic production of "Bought and Paid For" surpasses everything that Lowell has ever seen. Director Wright and Scenic Artist Hatch, have arranged three beautiful settings. The furniture used in this production was especially built for this play and adds to the grandeur of the play.

"Bought and Paid For" is the attraction for this week only. Do not be left out in the cold. Secure your seats now by phoning 281 and then you will be able to tell your friends that you saw this superb production.

Next week, the Emerson players will present the celebrated dramatic hit, "The Family Cupboard," which ran for over two years at William A. Brady's Playhouse in New York City to capacity business and had wonderful runs in Chicago, Philadelphia and Boston. It is being offered in Lowell for the first time and is popular pieces and handles all the old favorites in the company, there will be many, secured especially for this production.

Seats are now selling for the entire week so make your reservations now. The better way is to place your name on the subscription list. It will save time. The wonderful attractions that have been booked for the Opera House will prove the most enjoyable season in years and everyone will go every week.

real New York cabaret. The reason is not hard to find: the eight musicians and dancers went on the stage direct from one of the biggest of New York restaurants, where, for months, they were quite the rage. It is a great act, abounding in lightning changes, rapid dancing, and melodious playing. It is a play and some wonderful stage effects. Albert Hawthorne and Jack Ingels in "A Fool There Is" have a mighty fetching bit of nonsense. The two men are called upon to entertain in a most unusual way. They have neither dialogue nor plot nor dances to offer, but they look about them for material and succeed in turning everything into laughter. At every performance they are encored again and again. Bertha Creighton, supported by an excellent company, plays a very clever comedy called "Our Husband." It is far above the average in its plot, and Miss Creighton, who is unusually accomplished, does wonders with it. Eumann & Anderson ought to catch the fancy of the local roller skates, for they are unquestionably the best performers on the rollers appearing in public today. Carl Rosenthal, who does a lot of illusion work, is so clever that he baffles the guesses of experts, and Sylvester & Vance appear in a comedy skit. Ruby Wallace is a charming singing comedienne. THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy

Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, the natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and loins, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache results. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for kidney trouble and

GOVERNOR AT WORCESTER

Great Ovation by 3600 People— Strong Address on Railroad Situation—Other Issues

At Worcester last night Gov. Walsh got a great ovation by 3600 people in Mechanics hall. He dealt with the railroad situation at some length, as that city is much interested in the problems involved. The governor told how the New Haven broke faith with Gov. Draper and the wreck of the Boston & Maine followed, and stated that a duty to the whole people required adjustment or arbitration of the present freight handlers' strike.

"One year ago," said the governor, "I urged upon the voters of the state that with the problems of New Haven re-organization to come before the legislature Mr. McCall with his reactionary opposition to railroad control legislation in congress should not be elected to the governorship. The attitude 'invisibly government' to introduce into the reorganization bill a dangerous doctrine which would mean higher freight and passenger rates and which I killed with my veto, justified that claim."

The investigation
The resolve for an investigation of the New Haven's holdings of subsidiary lines which I forced the legislature to adopt after that reactionary body had once mysteriously defeated it is now under way and the report upon it will be submitted to the next legislature. That legislature will then be called upon to decide what lines shall be disposed of and what lines will be retained, and more important than all else, what legislation shall be passed to prevent further violations of the law.

"With these matters before the legislature, who do you wish to have on guard in the governor's office, Mr. McCall, with his reactionary railroad record, or your present governor, who for two years has kept faith with the people, and who in the last legislative session defeated the raid upon the pockets of the public attempted in the mysterious amendments of the New Haven reorganization bill?"

Drake Faith with Governor
That the forces which have controlled the New Haven railroad did not hesitate to break faith even with the governor of this commonwealth was disclosed a few days ago in the trial of the New Haven directors in New York, when the government offered evidence that the merger of the Boston & Maine and New Haven systems was approved by the late Gov. Draper only upon the promise that he was to name the president of the Boston & Maine and that that promise was repudiated by the railroad directors. Gov. Draper, an able business man, doubtless foresaw the possibilities of evil in the merger and insisted as a measure of protection to the interest of the public that he should have the naming of the president of the Maine system, but before the ink had hardly dried upon his signature the New Haven directors broke their promise and named a president of their own choosing. Everybody knows what a carnival of exploitation of the Boston & Maine system followed with losses of millions to its stockholders until today it is divorced from the New Haven by national decree and its seeking ways of rehabilitation.

The Freight Strike
"Over three-quarters of a million dollars were spent for persuasion, if not corruption, funds, and after all this waste of the money of the stockholders President Husted of the Boston & Maine is today refusing to arbitrate the request for an increase in wages for a few hundred striking freight handlers, and he gives as his reason that the company in its present financial condition cannot afford to increase the wages of any of its employees. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent to influence the people and legislature of New Hampshire, and now a strike will be forced which would tie up the commerce and industries of New England because the financial condition of the company is such, its officers claim, that it cannot even submit to an arbitration board the need of some of its employees for increased wages or shorter hours of labor."

Duty to the People
"Without attempting to decide or in any way to pass upon the merits of the matter in controversy, the facts that all the railroad lines in the eastern part of the country are glutted with freight and that a general strike would bring disaster to the business interests of the commonwealth, impose upon the people interested a duty to the whole people, that the matters at issue be adjusted at once or submitted to some form of arbitration. This duty devolves in no less degree upon the railroad corporations which get their charters from the people, than upon the striking wage workers."

The other issues of the campaign were briefly touched upon, and the governor was cheered to the echo.

SITUATION IN SOUTHERN SERBIA IS SOMEWHAT MORE FAVORABLE
LONDON, Oct. 23, 11.42 a. m.—Unofficial reports from Greek sources represent the situation in southern Serbia as somewhat more favorable to the entente allies. A despatch from Athens, which has not been confirmed, states that the Bulgarians have withdrawn from Ushkup. Advances from Saloniki tell of a fierce battle along the Veles-Komanovo front, with the Bulgarians retreating. Hope is being raised in London that the Serbians will be able to re-form their lines along the Monastir front.

The Germans having effected a junction with their Bulgarian allies, it is possible that the campaign will be shifted from an effort to relieve Serbia to an attempt to cut communication with Constantinople. In this connection several military critics hazard the guess that the entente allies are not likely to withdraw from Saloniki, no matter what happens to Serbia.

Riga and Dvinsk remain the chief German objectives on the eastern front. The direction of the German assault against Riga may have changed. Fighting is reported west of the city, the main attacks against which hitherto have been directed from the southwest and southeast. Lake Dvinsk, where minor engagements have occurred is west of Riga, running parallel with the shore of the gulf.

On the other fronts comparative inactivity prevails.

DOG KILLED BY AUTO
A valuable dog was hit by an automobile on the Andover street bridge last evening about 4:45 o'clock and the driver kept right on down. Although the canine's back was broken it lay near the curb on the bridge for nearly two hours before Agent Richardson arrived with the messenger that sent it to the hospital. The dog was found to belong to a woman residing in High street. This makes the fourth dog to be either hit or run over by an automobile in two weeks.

BOMB PLOTTERS

Officials Seek Men Who
Financed Plot to Blow
Up Ships

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Efforts of federal prosecutors and secret service agents here were directed today to an investigation of the financial backing of the leaders of the conspiracy to blow up war munition plants and ships, of which Lieut. Robert Fay of the German army is alleged to be the head.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service, was quoted today as saying: "I believe we are going to get the financiers of this plot. Fay said he had spent only $1000. Paul Siebs says that Fay told him he had $7500 when he started for this country. We believe Fay spent $2500."

United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall does not believe that the most important of the conspirators have yet been captured and expects that other arrests will be made.

The federal officials said that if the men who furnished money for Fay and his associates are discovered they will be called upon to face charges as serious as those against the men already arrested.

Paul Siebs said today that he was going to appear against the alleged conspirators as a witness for the state because he had been deceived and led into a trap. Siebs, who declares that he lived in Chicago from 1910 to 1913 as a clerk and traveling auditor, said that he came to the United States after visiting Germany last year to buy copper for the use of Germany.

Capt. Harold C. Woodward of the United States corps of engineers, an expert in high explosives, said that a bomb or mine such as Fay admitted he was preparing to attach to the rudders of ships leaving here with war supplies, would have been sufficient to have blown the ship and the steamers if the bombs were fired with the explosives Fay purchased.

FAY REPUDIATED
Bernstorff Denies Idea Charged With Bomb Plot Had Any Standing in Germany

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has telegraphed the state department that Robert Fay, arrested by federal authorities at New York for conspiracy to place bombs on departing ships, has no connection with the German secret service or the German government.

With this assurance the state department is disposed to leave it to the courts to deal with the alleged conspiracy to attach explosives to vessels carrying munitions of war for the allies.
